An Ohio man invented an automatic typewriter, which, it is claimed, neither chews gum nor makes eyes at the employer. That "settles its goose." It won't fill the bill. To the scrap pile with it.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER LIE EXPOSED

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 12.—Following their usual tactics, the crowd of Republican newspaper men sent out a story to the effect that Governor-elect Haskell had refused to ride with Governor Frantz in the inaugural parade.

Last night Governor-elect Haskell branded the report as a lie. He said: "I had never thought of such a thing. I shall not refuse to ride in the carriage with Governor Frantz. No matter what I may think of Governor Frantz personally, I will not allow such a thing to interfere with the harmony of the inaugural ceremonies."

Judge Dale, who has charge of the preparations for the inauguration, stated that Governor Haskell had not refused to comply with any arrangement of the committee so far as he knew.

The committee last night after receiving a favorable reply from Haskell, put the matter up to Frantz, who said:

"I will not ride in the carriage with Haskell, or take any part in his inaugural ceremonies."

Although Frantz positively refused to state the cause of his action, it may be attributed to the recent heated political campaign in which personalities played a prominent part.

Fakes vs. Legitimate Business.

A young gentleman called at The Chieftain office a few days ago and ordered 1,500 programs printed for the carnival which concluded its engagement in this city last week. The bills were printed according to agreement. The young man called that evening and asked for a dozen copies of the program from which to make his collection. A few hours later he returned, paid the printer and left instructions that the programs would be called for and delivered. He made his collections, took the next train out of town and the bulk of the programs are still in this office and the unwary merchant has been fleeced out of several dollars, from which he will get no returns. And this is only one of the many instances where a stranger drops into a town with a gold brick advertising scheme, proposing to print thousands of copies, which he does not do, charges the merchants prices they would not think of paying a home paper, collects the money and leaves for new fields of operation, with a good roll to his credit, and the merchant ignorant of the fact that he has been duped into spending his money with a "bird of passage," who makes his living by skinning a liberal and generous-hearted public that really believes it gets results. If you have money to spend for advertising, place it with your home paper, the institution with which you are in business touch every day in the year, and your results will be different. It costs you but half the money, besides assisting in maintaining an enterprise that is an absolute necessity in a civilized community. The Daily Chieftain takes a personal pride in Vinita, and is ever ready to espouse its cause; but it is unfair and unjust for our merchants to allow themselves to be fleeced by strangers for advertising fakes when the same amount expended with their home paper would produce ten-fold the results and keep the money at home. Remember that "to the victor belongs the spoils," and don't tie yourself to any fake advertising scheme unless you have the results in your hand and know that you are getting value received for the investment. Do not let prejudice enter your heart but ever remember that the newspaper is the most essential factor to a well governed city, and the money spent for advertising and job work should be accorded the same generous spirit in which the paper gives its services and support to the town.

Miss Mabel Bagby entertained last evening with cards in honor of Miss Lucile Lackland of Mexico, Mo. A large number of her friends were present, and delicious refreshments were served. A grand time was reported by all.
